Call your OceanAir sales consultant to learn more and to establish a free account to provide you with instant access to current shipping status.

Next Flight-Out Service

When you need to transport your important shipment in the shortest possible time, count on OceanAir's Next Flight-Out to get it there.

Direct airline-representation means OceanAir can immediately book your shipment on the next available commercial aircraft. As soon as you call, our automated freight traffic & booking systems will immediately reserve the fastest possible transit time—to any destination in the world.

Your important cargo is never delayed while it waits to be consolidated with other shipments. OceanAir manifests your shipment on the very next flight. Your cargo is booked and space reserved immediately after you call for a pick-up.

OceanAir's state-of-the-art cargo tracking systems and computerized scheduling services provide for your complete peace of mind. Flight availability can depend on weight and volume, so please call us for current schedules.
